2012 Rice Field Day cancelled

The Ricegrowers' Association of Australia (RGA) has announced that the 2012 Rice Field Day has been cancelled due to wet weather.

RGA Policy Officer Andrew Bomm explained that the wet conditions at Old Coree, Jerilderie had prevented access to the field trial sites on Thursday.

"The region is experiencing a lot of rain at present and this has meant that growers won't be able to access the field trial sites at Old Coree. As the on-site presentation of the latest rice research is the most important part of the day, we have taken the difficult decision to cancel the field day".

"We understand that the decision has been made quite late and apologise for the inconvenience caused."
